Have you heard about the news? Ornella Muti launches her first jewels collection in Cannes, on 16th of May, on Movies Festival. The first jewel is a bracelet with handcuffs and description in Manipuri "free me, if you love me...." I've heard that the bracelet will be distributed only via Networking, because she (Ornella) wants to be more close to her fans, consumers, clients, and decided to promote and distribute its jewelry collection by the new and advanced way .... I've also heard that the bracelet has been presented on Tribeca's festival in NY at the end of April and already has had a big success (some movies stars were wearing it, during the gala ceremony)...

I found this site, because I like Ornella Muti and I was looking for information about her. Does she really create jewelers? It is great! Where it can be seen?
