
new shopping site

Hi all,

I work for a new social shopping site called MyFaveShop which has just launched - you can create your ultimate shop and fill it with the stuff you love, share advice and tips with friends and other users, and look at other users shops as well as product reviews, tips and ratings. There's also a downloadable browser toolbar button so you can easily add products to your shop wherever you are on the web. It's a great looking site with some cool 3D graphics. If you love shopping and social networking we want to hear what you think. Go to www.MyFaveShop.com and register from the home page and we'll get you started straight away.
