Starting a career in retail fashion

Hi i'm a recent graduate and wish to start a career either in design or buying. I have done the usual like agency and recruitment websites for job vacancies, drapers record etc. But feels like every application I have sent has been electronic with annoying automated responses. Is this normal for the industry? Are there any other ways I can look for jobs?

Do you fancy doing work expereince with us first and see how you like it??

We are opening a boutique in Barking as well as our boutique in Croydon.

Why don't you send an email into hayleigh@fashion-enter.com and let's see if we can meet up with you and yes its normal to get these responses and its depressing too! Hang in there!
