Hi, I'm a design grad from north west England looking to get into the industry, the location says flexible, does this mean there are opportunities out side of London?

If so please e-mail me at rebecca.roper@btinternet.com

Thanks Rebecca

Hi remember we can also offer a variety of work experience too - we have boutiques plus we have the head office so we can give you a fully exclusive review of how the fashion industry works.

Fashioncapital has been relaunched and we are looking for the right person to work on this exciting new portal for the industry. Working on both the site and the PR of the site this could lead to a full time job for the right person.

If you think this is right for you then please contact Vanessa@fashion-etner.com and lets start the process off.

I am a media and marketing honours graduate with a higher diploma in journalism and media communications. I have a passion for the media and fashion industry and would ideally like to work in the Fashion PR industry. I would be extremely interested in the position mentioned.

For the last year and a half I have been attending college at night while working full time as a PA to Ireland's top womenswear fashion and crystal designer, which involved regular communication with our Irish and London PR agencies.

If you would like any further information, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Kindest Regards,

Michelle
