
SELLING T-SHIRTS!

Posted by cool88 - 2007/10/30 13:52

I'm a London based designer and have just set up an online T-Shirt store selling some of my designs called Klever Killer Tees. I'm looking for anyone who can help to advertise this site for me for free? This is just one of my T-Shirt design projects so am looking for someone who could maybe help to advertise my other projects too.

To see my T-Shirts go to the following link

<http://www.printfection.com/kleverkillertees>

I'm also looking for any UK based T-Shirt manufacturers who can make me up just one sample of each of my designs (5 initially)? So if you can do this and print on the following T-Shirts, SK101 Stretch-T and H5500 Fit-tshort-sleeve then please get in touch. I will use whoever can do these samples for any of my future projects also. (I will be needing a larger number of T-Shirts made up in the near future)

If you can help at all then please contact me through my space

<http://www.myspace.com/laceymccool>

Thanks,

=====

Re:SELLING T-SHIRTS!

Posted by JenniferHolloway - 2007/12/08 09:08

Hi re making T-shirts try CCS Ltd - they are on the Manufacturers Online Showroom (under suppleirs) - Naz is a good guy and has excellent production.

Also Gloria Fashions and Andrews Sampling Unit has t-shirt produciton too.

Re getting your label out there you need hits...we are just about to launch our online FC boutique which will be consumer facing but afflilated to this site has it has such a large reach into the indsutry!

If you tapped in UK Fashion websites into Google Fashioncapital would be 2...its been going since 2001 so it has high page impressions and unique users. This is what you need traffic to your site. Details re the online boutique will be made avialable on this Wednesdays newswire so please keep your eyes peeled!!

Regards

=====