

---

Sales & PR Role to start NOW!

Posted by JewelKing - 2008/01/10 10:26

---

We are looking for someone to promote sales for jewellery designers in the UK. The work will involve making contact with existing clients and building relationships with new clients. You will need to work on building a database of potential clients. Travel within the UK will be required. Some press and pr work will also be required for the designers. This is a great opportunity for an outgoing personality with confidence and an interest in fashion and jewellery. You should have excellent communication skills together with good computer and organisational skills. Some sales and marketing experience would be useful. Please send an email with details of your experience and CV in the first instance to recruitmentm@btinternet.com. The position is part-time with flexible hours to be agreed. Salary is negotiable depending on experience.

=====