We've also launched a lingerie e-commerce site please check it out and tell us what you think. Any ideas on raising its profile would be appreciated to.

Cheers B)

Hi don't we know you ???

Why don't you do a press release about your company and a profile about you too and then we will post this on the site for you. If your images are strong then we can put them on the clicker to the right of this forum.....this has a "big" impact especially as we have such a large user group.

The press release should be around 250 words and if you have garments to actually sell then perhaps you should consider the FC boutique that's coming online in January...start the year with a bang!

How all is well.

Regards

Hi I will be launching a new lingerie range in July. Are you still looking for labels?
Good luck with your venture!
Andrea x
