
fashion-enter site

Is the fashion-enter site just for people based in the UK? I'm based in Ireland and there is no support here for new designers. I was considering joining fashion-enter but notice that you have to be based in London to avail of some of the talks and wondered since it is a not for profit organisation if its just for UK residents?

Hello,

You do not have to be UK based to join Fashion Enter we have numerous designers from all around the globe. We tend to use skype a lot to keep in contact with the designers as this service is free and we have found it extremely useful. I recommend downloading skype.
