
NEW CONCESSION

Posted by dorathea - 2008/03/27 10:26

We will be based in New Bond Street and opening early June. We are a funky upscale concession based boutique housing the designs of rising talent in the fashion industry. (designer's own labels)

Concession space will be from Â£139 per week . We are looking for unique and well made garments and accessories to sell as well as homeware accessories. In addition, we have a PR agent designated to the boutique and the designers in order to ensure maximum exposure. One of the confirmed designers happens to work with celebrities and the A - List at present. Having him on board is a plus, as it means the boutique will attract and draw the same celebs he works with.

Also, where will your things be produced? Do you have ample samples or stock available? Please let me know if u need help with any of these areas, as our sister company specializes in sampling and small runs.
