Lily London is a new luxury womenswear designer label, which will be officially launched in September 2008.

We are currently offering work placements to design students in our showroom/studio based in Chelsea.

The placements will suit fashion students who have strong technical and craft skills as we mainly need help in the finishing of our dresses.

As well as experience in the finishing of dresses, students will also gain invaluable insight into the day to day workings of a small independent luxury label.

An interest in designing for plus sizes would be an advantage.

Travel expenses will be paid.

Please email C.V and covering letter and availability to lola@lilylondon.com for immediate consideration.
