
Freelance Illustrator fees!

Posted by lauragriffin - 2008/04/10 18:02

Hi there,

I'm starting out as a freelancer illustrator and was wondering if anybody had any advice on what to charge for a daily rate. I have a job lined up for Adobe Illustrator vector illustrations to be used as downloadable shapes for the fashion industry. They want to pay me for the whole job. I've worked out that it will be 20 days work, give or take a couple. Should I charge £150?

Any info would be hugely appreciated.

Thanks,

Laura

Hi Laura,

I don't know any information concerning fees for Illustrator but I would love for you to do some drawings of handbags for me.

Please email me at carapil1@yahoo.co.uk once you have finalised your payment for your services.

Hi there Carole,

Regarding the handbag illustrations that you require, what kind are you looking for? I can do technical CAD's or stylized fashion illustrations. How many do you need? My fees are 150 to 200 a day, depending on the quantity.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Regards,

Laura

P.S. Your email address doesn't work!

Hi Laura,

Thanks for answering.

Sorry for the delay in answering your email but how much do you charge for e.g. a detailed drawing of a purse?

Regards

Carole

Hi Carole,

Again it would depend on how many you need doing. For just one I'd charge Â£50. Would you need me to draw from a photo or from a sketch, and do you need measurements included?

Thanks,

Laura

Hi Laura,

All I need is just 1 detailed drawing just in case I have to send it to designers, samplers or manufacturers. The drawings would include measurements.

I have rough sketches done but the pockets in the handbag or purse would be detailed with measurements.

Please let me know if there is anymore information that you need.

You also mentioned that my email address carapil1@yahoo.co.uk does not work. I receive all my business mail through that address. Please try again

Regards

Carole
