
Cloisonne --- fabulous

Posted by hyclothing - 2008/07/07 03:46

Cloisonne is a famous traditional enamel ware, known as the "Blue of Jingtai" in China, with a history of over 500 years. It was so called "blue" was the typical colour used for enamelling and "Jingtai" was the reign title of the 7th Ming Emperor. Enamel ware became very popular during the Emperor's reign. There is a great variety of products, such as vase, jar, bowl, plate, box and ash-tray. They are brilliant in colours and splendid in design. Cloisonne is one of the famous arts and crafts of Beijing.

We launch new business as above, if anybody else who are interested in it, we can produce for you. We have own design, if you would like to take a look, I can send you by Email. Also you can provide pictures with specific enquiries, we can make for you exactly same.

Have a good day..
