

---

Doe\'s anyone know of any good bead shops?

Posted by afrochique1 - 2008/07/09 09:05

---

Hi all,

Im desperately seeking large and unusual beads to make jewelry at a good price, does anyone know of any good bead shops? I also need basic cheap beads aswell!

Please email at janicemorrison@hotmail.co.uk
Thank you.

---

Re:Doe\'s anyone know of any good bead shops?

Posted by jojo1 - 2008/07/09 09:36

---

Hello,

I like Bijoux Beads <http://www.bijouxbeads.co.uk> and Shiney Rocks for basic low cost beads
<http://www.shineyrocks.co.uk/>

JoJo

---

Re:Doe\'s anyone know of any good bead shops?

Posted by afrochique1 - 2008/07/09 10:33

---

Thank you JoJo1, I'll check them both out :)

---

Re:Doe\'s anyone know of any good bead shops?

Posted by eFABE - 2008/07/09 19:02

---

Hi there,

I found e-beads and <http://www.beadsales.co.uk> to be very good.

Good luck.

Bella

---

Re:Doe\'s anyone know of any good bead shops?

Posted by emma1981 - 2008/07/10 14:32

---

There is a cool bead shop on Beak st just off of carnaby st.

good luck!

---

Re:Doe\'s anyone know of any good bead shops?

Posted by Emma1981 - 2008/07/10 14:34

---

I got some great beads in HK and in KL. Thailand is so so so sos o cheap too. Well worth combininga holiday with a buying trip. I always do that but always come back with things that I was not looking for. Still searching for ribbon.....

---

=====

Re:Doe\'s anyone know of any good bead shops?

Posted by arta - 2008/07/15 04:46

---

There's 2 good ones in Tower St and Earlham St (around the corner from each other). It's off Charing Cross Road/Shaftebury Avenue crossing in Covent Garden.
They aren't cheap but have a good selection of interesting beads )

=====