Hi just to let you all know out there that we do not allow overt advertising on the forums. With over 60,000 unique users each month we monitor the site at all times (even weekends!) and have a team equipped to ensure that forums are kept clean.

Thanks you

Jennifer Holloway

Hi Jennifer, Hope your well. This is not an advert, more a suggestion. Many fashion capital designers now have me consult with them and buy my buyer database/info pack which helps them with the right way to approach UK buyers, price their collection, present it etc etc. Why don't Fashion capital do like the Danish Embassy has done for their overseas designers wanting to break into the UK market whereby they have a done a deal with me to buy multiple copies of my database/info pack at a discount and in turn market it to their designers. I,m working with many Embassy's at the moment but I feel someone needs to help our homegrown talent!
