Any chance of some more silhouette's and future trends being added to the site? :P

We are working on this now. The site had not been funded for over six months and so we had our administrator access rights withdrawn. Now that we have the "back end" of the site operational again we can start going through the whole of the site again.

Thanks for your patience.

It's going to take time though. We have brought the server in house to ensure we have greater control too.
